Glory (The Dust Chronicles) By Maureen McGowan

Glory is a Deviant. That is what she was always taught, growing up in the domed city of Haven. She has the power to kill with her gaze, but she's learned to control this power and use it only against the monstrous Shredders, who survive on the asteroid dust that mutated their DNA.

Now living in a settlement Outside, Glory has the chance to embrace her "Gift" and reunite her remaining family. But she can't hide from the threat of Shredder attacks or the knowledge of what Management is doing to the employees of Haven.

Can she face losing everything she has left to bring freedom to Haven? Will she choose the familiar safety of Cal's love or risk Burn's dangerous passion? Ultimately, Glory must decide how far she is willing to go to keep her family safe, and what it really means to be a monster.

This is the thrilling finale to The Dust Chronicles trilogy.

Editorial Review

From School Library Journal

Gr 7 Up—Glory, a Deviant who can kill with the power of her gaze, has fled the safety of Haven and is living free on the Outside. But when Glory learns that innocent Haven employees are being turned into the mutant monsters called Shredders under the guise of science, she knows she must act. If she wants to keep her family safe, she must return to Haven and kill President Kalin. During a deadly battle of Deviant wills between Glory and President Kalin, Glory discovers the truth about her deceased mother, one that literally and figuratively sets her free. When the heroine's not battling monsters, she is confronting the war within her heart; the love triangle continues, but ultimately the teen makes a decision between Cal and Burn. Tara Sands provides top-notch narration—from the multiple layers of 16-year-old Glory to the sinister snarl of Shredders. McGowan neatly wraps up her "Dust Chronicles" trilogy in this page-turning dystopian novel. This is not a stand-alone—complete the set or buy all three.—Cheryl Preisendorfer, Twinsburg City Schools, OH
