Dear Heart, I Hate You: A Stand Alone Contemporary Romance By J. Sterling

From New York Times Bestselling Author, J. Sterling comes a realistic story about long distance romance and love.

Jules was a self-professed workaholic who put love on the back burner while she focused on making a name for herself in her career. Cal Donovan was the exact same way. He even had a timeline and everything- women didn't factor into his equation for at least a few more years.

But a chance meeting between the two of them everything changes. Suddenly, love doesn't seem like such a bad idea. But how do you make things work when you live across the country from one another and you both still want to succeed in your jobs?

What follows is an emotional look into the realities of long-distance romance and finding out who you really are when you thought you already knew.
